ON CAMPUS

It could double the number of students if houses each year, simply by doubling the number in each room. However, that kind of crowding doesn't do much for a student's development.

Consequently, most schools guarantee a place on campus at least for the incoming freshmen. But after the first year, students are usually on their own to try their luck in an annual housing lottery or to seek out a livable space off-campus within a reasonable commuting distance.

Therefore, despite the desperation of some students, universities are not initiating massive building programs. The housing crunch is not likely to go away and lines like the one Todd is standing in are not likely to get shorter.

■ Regardless of the university you attend there are some things you can do to help the odds of attaining a place to live on campus:

- 1 Whether or not your school has a lottery system, it is imperative that you have all of your appropriate paperwork and housing deposit in by the deadline. Many schools offer housing space on a "first come, first served" basis. The sooner you have your paperwork in, the better.

- 2 In a lottery system, pick a number as soon as possible. Many students feel very stressed and superstitious about housing lotteries. Some feel it is better to wait until "good numbers" start coming up. In reality, a lottery is just that—potluck. If on the first day of the lottery you draw number 14,000 and there are only 8,000 spaces on campus, you have that much more time to find other accommodations for the upcoming year.

- 3 Many schools offer guaranteed housing as an incentive for getting involved with special programs such as freshman orientation or special interest living sections. You might check with your Resident Assistant or Hall Director to see what programs your college offers. Be sure you have a genuine interest before applying—you will be interviewed and scrutinized closely. Be come involved for the experience, not just to get into the housing.

Who wants to be out in the cold on Halloween night? You should take the time to get to know your school's housing procedures and follow these simple hints to maximize your odds of beating the great campus housing crunch.

Wm. Miller Jr. is a free-lance writer who also

The Great 1986 Campus Housing Crunch

BY WM. MILLER, JR.

It's 8:30 p.m., Halloween night. All over the Rutgers University campus students enjoy the festive activities. Pumpkins fly from the roofs of the frat houses on Minto Street and explode on the sidewalk below in great orange splashes. One guy comments that it's better than the watermelons they throw off the high tower on Letterman. Two girls walking by the house look on in disgust as they head toward the Student Center on College Avenue to see a Friday the 13th film festival.

Another couple joins a group in front of the big fireplace at Demarest Hall for a night of chilling ghost stories. Yes, there are parties galore across Rutgers, slasher movies, costume contests and students trekking from door to door trick-or-treating. Everyone's out doing something tonight!

Everyone, that is, except Todd Newmueller, freshman Rutgers College art major. Bundled up against the chilly October air in a long black coat, he loiters nervously outside the Housing Office at Clother Hall on the College Avenue campus. Todd is first in a line of about twenty students that started forming at 7:00 p.m. when the campus dining hall closed.

Todd is not masquerading as a flasher, this is not a line for an exclusive Halloween party. The two students sitting in beach chairs outside the office are not part of an elaborate college Halloween prank. No, the line is not even for Bruce Springsteen concert tickets.

These students will wait in line all night solely for the purpose of being one of the first on the list for on-campus housing. November 1 is the first day to sign up, and this group of twenty will be among the 600 or so that will go through those doors tomorrow to have their names placed on the already crowded waiting list for on-campus housing. Approximately 200 of these students will eventually find themselves living on campus in the spring semester. That leaves 400 slots open for off-campus housing.

The problem of a lack of available on-campus housing is not unique to Rutgers. Across the country, the housing crunch is a major concern for college students. The following figures are typical of the nationwide situation:

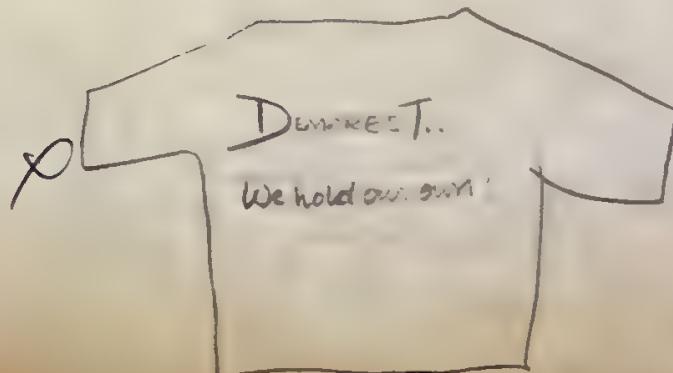

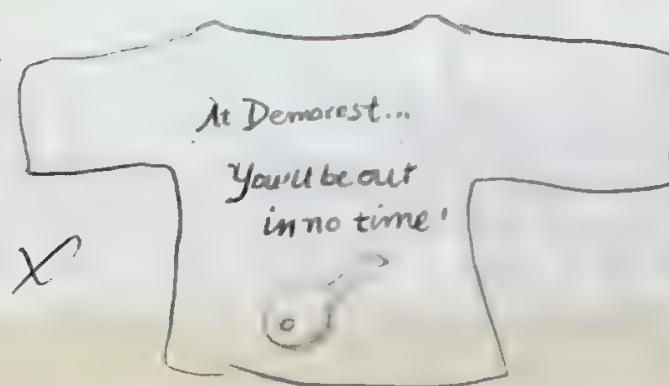

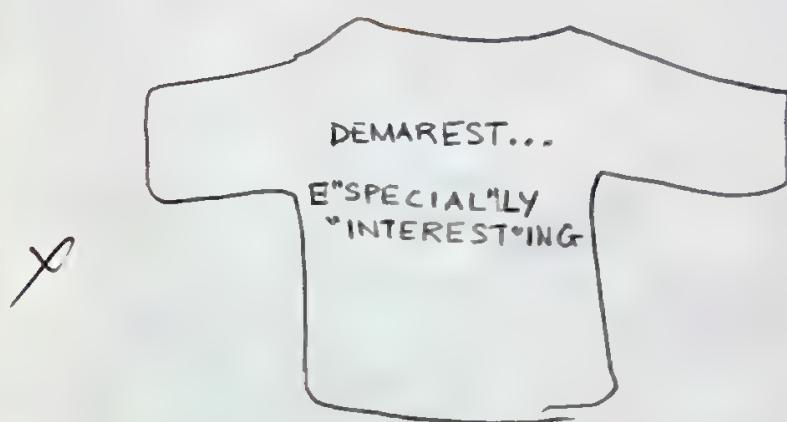

Demarest makes the national press!! (although in an article of very very dubious authorship -- yes, it's... it's... it's the dreaded ex-pseudo-RC BILL "I'm a feminist" MILLER!!!)

Dear fellow Demarests,

You are all truly special, in many ways: never forget that! You are special because you care -- about the dorm, about each other, and about the world. These qualities are often lacking nowadays, but Demarestites continue to value them, and that is what makes each and every one of you so important.

Demarest has a lot going for it; more, I think, than anyone outside realizes. There is, however, always room for improvement. When potential change comes along, look at it, think about it, and if it is "right," then accept it. Resistance for the sake of resistance is not only pointless, it is also detrimental. On the other hand: Don't let anyone ever change you if it is not right. Demarest is unique, and it is up to you to make sure that it stays that way because you are Demarest.

Most important of all, don't lose sight of what goes on inside the building. The beauty of Demarest, to me at least, lies in the depth of feeling which does not ~~merely~~ merely overcome, but positively embraces and rejoices in, a myriad of personal differences -- differences in lifestyle, in backgrounds, in musical tastes, etc., etc. This is so very rare in the "outside" world, and therefore it must be protected and cherished, even more so than section criteria, room placements, etc. Demarest is variety, and the love of variety, the acceptance of that which is different. If that feeling of acceptance is lost, Demarest is lost.

I will be forever grateful for having had the good fortune to spend four years of my life here in Demarest. It is truly a home, and you are truly a family -- complete with all the little tensions which come with the territory, yes, but bonded by a love which overcomes all of those tensions. Thank you for sharing that love with me -- I will spend the rest of my life trying to give back to the world all the affection and kindness you showed me, for they are very precious to me. Take care of yourselves, have fun (like you always do!), and BE HAPPY!! -- and with your happiness, change the world. If anyone can do it, you can!

Dear Nishith, Darsh, Grant, Bobbi, Sandip, Nirav, Smishal -- Thanks for the four great years. I miss you all alot. Good luck in everything. Love you forever,

JOJO, I want my $35!!! -- You know who Demarest -- thanks for four wonderful years of love and warmth, and for renewing my faith in humanity. You've truly been my family and I love all of you. Robin

Craig, Barry, Carmen P., Rita, Feinstein, and Paesano. Have a great time in Venezuela. I love you now and always. Frank

Phyllis, Diane & Betty -- Thanks for making the office such a great place to come to! Love Jackie and John Lee

With all my love,

Robin

(Demarest Resident 9/83 - 5/87;
Hall President '86-'87)

P.S. Live long and prosper.

P.I.S. Most important of all -- LET'S GO METS!!!

P.I.P.S. Sue -- lots of wishes for a great, incident free year, filled with lots of hockey-sack playing. (And better luck with T-shirts than I had!)

2013 addendum: I still mean it!
